Is it possible to work with AdAgency have ads

Hi Edwin,

I see that you support several Ijoomla comps and wonder if it would be possible to have one AdAgency installation where you can set up ads on several other domains zones?

Would that be possible if so how does it work?

We have defined the Ad Agency for the install but not for the sharing because this is an extension that is encrypted with IonCube and we can not do the reverse enginering to discover its data model and the relationship with the core Joomla tables.

So you can install it into a slave but you can not share it.

If you want that we declare the Ad Agency table for the sharing, this is possible with our billable support and at your own risk.
We can not guarantee the consistency of the data.
We could create a specific plugin that would declare the sharing only for you and at your own risk.
