Really easy question on Multisites Google analytic

Posted by spiraltech - 2012/01/27 14:48

I have just installed Multisites Google analytics on one of my joomla sites as a module. Do I need to put this in any particular module position?. It is currently in 'debug'.

Please advise.

Thanks

You can put the module in any position as long as it is called by your template.
Sometimes, it is better to put the module at the very begining of the page.
Sometimes, in the footer.

So up to you to decide the position.
As this does not display anything, you can choose any position.
