Template Problem

Posted by profebral - 2013/10/11 01:13

I've had a copy of JMS 1.2.x for some time to get accustomed to JMS. Now I am read for deployment, I think.

I am trying to create a template that will provide a fresh install but still allow for some of the master db records to be shared. However, unless I create a new site with 'Fresh slave site' template ALL of the master DB records are copied over.

Mainly I would like to allow for user sharing, but I don't want all of the categories and articles from the master DB copied over. What am I doing wrong this time?

EDIT: I forgot to mention I have JMS 1.3 now.

EDIT: Nevermind ... this post answered my question:
http://help.jms2win.com/en/forum/30-general-questions/11618-question-about-fresh-slave?lang=en#11626

==========

Re: Template Problem

Posted by edwin2win - 2013/10/13 14:43

Glad to see that you found the answer in the forum.
This is the reason why we prefer to have all the questions here to make benefit everybody of the answer (like you today).

==========