Give more detail on the action you did, the kind of environement.
A message like that is not necessary related to JMS.

Give a detailled scenario on the procedure that must be used to reproduce it.

So you have to investigate the first error you have got when install the third party module.
Perhaps this has a side effect somewhere.

The line you provided in the error message does not mean anything for me.

If you want that we investigate and debug on your server, we also provide billable support that you can order at
