Jomsocial backend popup windows on slave sites

Dear Edwin,

Jomsocial is on your shared extension list, I guess it should work with full features on slave sites.
I don't know whether it is an issue because I use latest Jomsocial (2.6), or because my sites are shared, but on the slave sites those options that can be configured via popup don't work in the slave site's backend.
For example I cannot create a group in the backend as the popup jumping up but without a content to set the group.
As on my sites Jomsocial is shared, it is not a problem for me so far, as I can create the group in the master site's backend.

Do you know about this issue?

Regards

Jozsef

No I don't know this issue and you are the first to report such potential issue.

Would you please send us the JomSocial 2.6 that you are using in the attachement of an email.
See the "contact us" for the email address.
