The symptom of a blank page correspond to a PHP syntax error somewhere.
Perhaps you could try find the PHP syntax error in a log file.

If you don't find any error log file or error message somewhere, the only solution would consists in debuging joomla itself to try identifying the extension that might cause this error.
If you want that we debug joomla for you, this is also possible with our billable support that you can order at

I have checked the error log file and it is showing some Fatal errors like
" PHP Warning:
require_once(/mnt/stor1-wc1-dfw1/379980/432020/www.uppercervicalcare.com/web/content/multisites/uctest/includes/defines_multisites.php) : failed to open stream: Cannot allocate memory in /mnt/stor1-wc1-dfw1/379980/432020/www.uppercervicalcare.com/web/content/includes/defines.php on line 33 " .
the include folder is in the main site directory and it as per the template which I am using it is using symbolic links. So I have to change it to copy the files and all. But the error is still there and also it is showing some new erros that it could not find the framework.php file Could you please check the error log which I am attaching with this ..?

I am very sorry for beacoming a disturbance for you .

Check that the file /www.uppercervicalcare.com/web/content/mu...fines_multisites.php exists

If it does not exists, go in the master website and go in JMS check if all the patches are installed.

As already mentionned several times in the forum, the blank page is the symptom of a PHP syntax error somewhere.

Check if you have file "error_log" that may help you find if you have a PHP syntax error.
It may be present in the root or in the administrator directory.
