multiple 'multisites' folders

Posted by kaiteri - 2010/01/21 22:18

I have installed Multisites and have two slaves working fine as far as I can tell. Within the master folder I have a 'multisites' folder which has my two slave site folders with the joomla files but also within each slave folder there is another 'multisites' folder. The problem I have is that within each '2nd' multisites folder I have the same thing all over again - I can go on and on, I gave up after going down about 12 levels!

Can anyone help / advise me about this? It does not seem right all these 'duplications'. I have attached a screenshot where the first 'multisites' is the folder within my master site. Khanate is the first slave and then you can see I have another multisites and another khanate etc for about 12 levels...

thanks
Pete http://www.jms2win.com/images/fbfiles/images/multisites.jpg

==========

Re: multiple 'multisites' folders

Posted by edwin2win - 2010/01/21 23:07

It is totally normal and correct to have this recursive "multisites" directory as already explained in the forum.
The recursive "multisites" is due to the symbolic links and the fact that the slave site is deployed into a subdirectory.

Only one "multisites" directory is real and the other one are resulting of the symbolic links.
This create an infinite level.
All the sub-level does not take spaces as they are links.

==========