Theme in slave site
Posted by financeiro - 2010/02/20 21:45

Is there any way to install a theme in a child site without necessarily install the theme on the parent site?

==========

Re:Theme in slave site
Posted by financeiro - 2010/02/20 21:46

---

forgot a important think! my slave sites templates folder are not symbolic link !

==========

Re:Theme in slave site
Posted by edwin2win - 2010/02/21 16:03

If you don't have symbolic link available, most of the extension will not work properly.

When the Symbolic Link is allowed, the parameters in the template can be for example domain = {site_url}/multisites/{site_id}

Deploy dir = {site_dir}
Template folder = {site_dir}/templates
Action in file/foler for "templates" = Special Copy

If Symbolic Link is not allowed, you can try using the parameter "Template foler" field but most of the extension may search for the "/templates" directory instead of the value that is store in joomla.

==========

Re:Theme in slave site
Posted by battisti - 2010/02/22 00:41

---

when I try to install a theme on my site slave jms tells me I must first install the theme on the parent site!

my doubt is not about setting, but if there is a way where I can install a theme on a site slave without his necessarily be installed on the parent site!

==========

Re:Theme in slave site
Posted by edwin2win - 2010/02/22 09:38

I repeat that previous reply.

Template folder = {site_dir}/templates
Action in file/foler for "templates" = Special Copy

==========

Re:Theme in slave site

Posted by Zappu - 2010/02/25 16:23

_____

I used {deploy_dir} and it's also working - or?

After I played now for three days with multisites, it's getting better and better for each hour - but you have to learn a lot and test a lot

==========

Re:Theme in slave site

Posted by edwin2win - 2010/02/25 21:45

_____

Like all new stuff there is a learning curves.
We have published tutorial video to try helping customers in their first steps.

==========