Help needed with articel sharing

Posted by jellydesign - 2010/03/03 10:23

_____

HI there, I am in need of some help.

Scenario: My client has a corporate site that provides "health Articels" to their various clients and in the process host a site for that client.

The only thing being shared between all sites are the articles, each site has its own components and users.

Now my problem is that they use Alpha content which is a directory component to display articles from a section or category. This done by creating alpha content Menu items.

How do I get the articles to be shared with directory layout of alpha content.

Your help will be greatly appreciated.

==========