Generate new slave from a remote script

Posted by kristianharmer - 2010/04/20 18:31

---

Hi,

We have a requirement to create a slave site, based on a site template setup in Multi Sites, from a remote script (or a script outside of Joomla itself).

Is this possible?  If not, is there any advice you can give me with regards to calling something that exists in the existing Multi Sites component?

I guess, we just need to post some details to a script!

Any advice would be greatly appeciated.

Regards,
Kris...

==========

Re: Generate new slave from a remote script

Posted by edwin2win - 2010/04/20 23:29

---

This may be possible but not easy.

We have internally develoed a "Multisite Import" extension that is not yet a product because we have identified several problems that we fix each time we have to create several hundred of websites in a very short time.

So if your question is to build a large number of website, we sometimes provide this extension during billable support and after adapt it to the specific customer case (in general directory path or similar). It is based on a small tabulated files and on JMS templates rules to build the slave sites.

==========