unable to install a new subsite

Posted by zyossi - 2010/08/09 03:16

---

i created a new subsite successfully.

when i try enter the new subsite, i'm redirected to the main page instead of the joomla subsite installation.

the created directory doesn't have the installation directory.

the only files i have are
config_multisites.php
and an empty cache directory.

please help.

==========

Re: unable to install a new subsite

Posted by edwin2win - 2010/08/09 16:35

Which is your environment ?
Did you deployed the slave site into a specific directory using symbolic link ?

This result might be correct depending on your environment and configuration.
For other, it might be wrong.

As you don't provide any information on the environment and setup, I can not reply to you.

==========

Re: unable to install a new subsite

Posted by zyossi - 2010/08/09 17:43

---

i'm using h-sphere
i enabled symbolic links

what i entered was
site id: slave1
list of domain names: http://www.domain.coml/slave1
http://domain.com/slave1

deployed directory: {site_id}
and i checked the "create deploy directory"

==========