Changes in Slave get reflected in Master too!

Posted by javier011 - 2010/11/21 17:49

Hello,

any change I make in the admin area of the slave site, for example 'change of template' it gets reflected in the master site, so the master site also gets the template changed!

what is doing wrong?

That depending if you decided to share the templates or have a specific template.
When you share the template, this is normal that when you change or modify the template you have the same in the master.

In the JMS Templates go in the "files and folders" tabs where you select the "copy"
See tutorial video CP-05 that show how to have specifc templates directory.
See also tutorial video 0.b slide 34

Hey look,
I have already seen that part yesterday, but the problem is that you dont clearly explain what are the differences between FULL SHARED, FULL COPY AND PARTIAL SHARED , so what are those differences?? please explain with examples. (you can not assume everybody is understanding your definitions!)

Thank you!
