Article Sharing COM_CONTENT messages

Posted by shepsta - 2011/07/05 23:36

Hi,

I have Joomla 1.6.4, JMS Multisites 1.2.59 and Article Sharing 1.1.1.
When I try and share my articles between sites I can see the title and content of the article fine. I am getting the following errors when trying to show author, hits etc.

COM_CONTENT_WRITTEN_BY
COM_CONTENT_ARTICLE_HITS

Has anyone seen this before?

Cheers,
Greg

I am also getting a "Fatal error: Cannot redeclare class ContentHelperRoute in /var/www/vhosts/mysite/httpdocs/suppliers/components/com_content/helpers/route.php on line 25" when trying to view a page with shared articles when I have Rokstories enabled on the home page.

Can you give more details on which settings to used.

Which type of layout are you using in the menu definition ?
Which languages do you use (GB or other languages) ?

You also provide the JMS patch definition version number but not the core JMS version.
Do you use the JMS version 1.2.55 with patch 1.2.59 ?

Concerning the fatal error that you also reported, I will add the patch present for joomla 1.5 into the joomla 1.6 and 1.7.
This will be available in the patch definition 1.2.61

I am have JMS Version 1.2.55 patched to 1.2.59

The COM_CONTENT messages occur when using Multi Sites Category Blog and Multi Sites Article Layout. I have language as English (UK).

I now have JMS Multisites 1.2.56 installed and patched to 1.2.61. I am now getting this error message when Rokstories is enabled on the home page.

Fatal error: Cannot redeclare class ContentModelArticles in /var/www/vhosts/mysite/httpdocs/suppliers/components/com_content/models/articles.php on line 587

Would you please send me the RockStories that you are using in the attachement of an email to try reproducing it in the same condition.
See "contact us" for the email address.

A new patch is released in JMS patches defintion 1.2.63 that now avoid the fatal error in the "modules/articles.php"

This is also documented in the JMS change history.
