Only Super User can view "List All Slave Sites"
Posted by zamzmith - 2012/01/27 03:05

Why can only the Super User access the page from the menu item "List All Slave Sites" in the front end?

I can't find where to set permissions on content from "Menu Item types."

Thanks,

Sam

==========

Re: Only Super User can view "List All Slave Sites"
Posted by edwin2win - 2012/01/28 09:27

When you select that the website from the front end is available from a registered user only then only this user can see the list of his own websites.

If you want that anybody be able to see all the website, you can select anonymous user.
In this case, all the users will be able to see all the websites and create websites.

When you are the administrator of the website, you can always see all the users as you are the administrator

==========

Re: Only Super User can view "List All Slave Sites"
Posted by buddyq - 2012/02/02 01:11

This is not working as you state in the latest version as of the date 1.2.7. I am logged in as a user with "Administrator" and "Registered" group and the variable "isSuperAdmin" = 1

==========

Re: Only Super User can view "List All Slave Sites"
Posted by edwin2win - 2012/02/04 11:51

Retry with JMS 1.2.73

==========

Re: Only Super User can view "List All Slave Sites"
Posted by buddyq - 2012/02/04 15:47

This doesnt work. I updated and it shows ALL sites for an Admin instead of just for SuperAdmin.

==========

Re: Only Super User can view "List All Slave Sites"

Posted by edwin2win - 2012/02/06 15:32

I will recheck the packaging.

==========