Copy Site

I know this seems like a really basic question but, how do I just make a complete separate copy of my master website? It uses jos_ table, I dont want it to have any symlinks or anything, just to COPY everything.

Because I want to separate my domain and use it as a different site so I need the freedom to change the original jos_ site. I would then like to use multisites from the new COPIED site.

If you want to replicate the master websiste, search in this forum for "replicMaster".
We describe that plenty of times.
See also the tutorial video 0.d and moreless at the middle, you have the replicMaster rule that is shown.
