Slave site no menu items

Posted by acady - 2012/08/08 20:23

HI,
I've installed JMS on Jommla 1.5. Worked fine except that I'm not able to create a menu item. Either in a new menu nor with multisite menu item. In the Menuitem list there is no item visible although it says that there was an item created successfully. AND in the menu overview list there is also a number of items in the row "approved". Useless to say, that there is no menu in the frontend....
Any ideas?
thanx,
lg acady

This is not clear.

JMS does not change anything concerning the joomla menu.

If I understand correctly you seems mention that when you go in the joomla "menu item manager" to add a new menu entry under joomla 1.5, you see the menu types and when you select a menu type and that you complete the joomla settings after the save, you don't have the menu item created.
You use the word "approved" but in joomla 1.5, the word is "published".

If you can provide a screenshot, this will help to confirm the joomla version and that you report an issue with the joomla "menu item manager"

Concerning the rendering of a menu that is correctly published, we suggest that you start by checking the rendering with the standard joomla template.
If the menu is correctly rendered with standard joomla template, that would mean that the issue is relative to the templates that you are using.

Hi thanks for the reply. Your right, "published" (I'm using a german joomla version) is the right term. I Also tried standard templates, same result. No menu shown. I also tired it with a standalone joomla version - menus are there (same as in the joomla master). See the attached file for the screenshots I went through all the steps of generating a menu item.

http://zedlacher.info/_start_new_menu_item.png start

http://zedlacher.info/_menuitem.png new menu item

http://zedlacher.info/_list_menuitems_after_save_new_item.png list menu items after save "successfully" (joomla says)

http://zedlacher.info/_list_menus_see_puplished_items_two.png see two menu items but no one in the list or on the frontend

I think it has sth to do with the link of the menu database table between the master and the slave. Could you provide me some information even where to start searching?

Thanks,
acady

I see that you are using a very old 1.5.10.
Can you redo the test with a more recent joomla 1.5.26

Perhaps this is a known issue in joomla itself where you could find a reason in their bug tracker.
