Default entry page for slave site addon domain

Posted by amccarron - 2010/07/05 08:11

I had everything working with a mastersite (www.aamembers.org.nz) and two subsites using subdomains. Then I deleted the subdomain so as to set up the Add On domain name to be one of the subsites.

Once creating the add on domain (aaconvention.org.nz - convention.aamembers.org.nz) I checked the settings for urls for this subsite:

http://aamembers.org.nz/multisites/convention
http://www.aamembers.org.nz/multisites/convention
http://convention.aamembers.org.nz
http://aaconvention.org.nz
http://www.aaconvention.org.nz

However now the default page for http://aaconvention.org.nz is going to the default hosting page rather than http://aaconvention.org.nz/home or http://aaconvention.org.nz/index.php

Do you know why this would be?

I copied over the .htaccess as part of subdomain process and had tested the whole thing with another random domain name earlier which worked but I am not sure what has changed apart from using a different addon domain name.

Regards, Amie

==========

Re: Default entry page for slave site addon domain

Posted by edwin2win - 2010/07/05 16:26

If the same procedure work for another domain, check that this domain that is not working has the same DNS server - perhaps you have this domain defined on another name server and therefore still defined with other values.

==========