JFusion and JMS Multisites

Posted by netician - 2010/09/11 15:57

Does JMS Multisites user sharing work with JFusion. JFusion provides bridges to between Joomla sites and software such as VBullethin and PHPBB. If JMS is set up for user sharing, using the multiple database set up, will the user logging into a slave site also be logged into the bridged software via JFusion. The bridged software is usually in a frame and I want this software to be accessible via all sites created using JMS.

==========

Re: JFusion and JMS Multisites

Posted by edwin2win - 2010/09/12 19:35

JFussion is in the list of extension that can be installed in JMS Multisites.
They usually use plugins to perform the syncrhonisation between websites.
So that should work.
See also the list of extension defined in JMS Multisites.
http://www.jms2win.com/component/content/article/135

==========