Creating Template - ignore /multisites folder?

Posted by Gremlin - 2011/06/21 22:00

When creating a template for new slaves, specifically under the "Folders and Files" tab, does the folder: "multisites" need to be shared (SL), or can it be ignored? I know config info is stored in there, but didn't know if the slave required direct access.

Thanks!

==========

Re: Creating Template - ignore /multisites folder?

Posted by edwin2win - 2011/06/23 18:55

When you have other of extension installed like the "article sharing" or other then you need the multisites directory shared to allow the slave site access the multisites definition from the extensions.

If you don't have any other "multisites" extension installed in the slave site, then you can ignore the directory.

==========