1)YES you can have other subdomains.
If you have an error on writing the "configuration.php", perhaps this is because you don't have access to the directory or that a "configuration.php" already exists and is read only.

2) If you have different domain or subdomain name that are located in different directories and in the same time you want to make them synonym, you can also use the "alias" definition present in JMS to create an alternated "alias" directory that point to the "deploy folder".
So you can do that.
You can also define in your cPanel the "document root" that directly point to the directory of your subdomain.
So this is also possible.
