Joomla Weblinks component sharing
Posted by chrisjclay - 2012/07/24 00:42

Hi Edwin,

Now that I've gotten passed the configuration stage, I'm wondering if it's possible for a slave site to share the weblinks component from the master site. I see you have some optional add-ons to share menus between sites etc. - if it's not possible to share weblinks too, is this something you'd consider in future?

Cheers,
Chris

==========

Re: Joomla Weblinks component sharing
Posted by edwin2win - 2012/07/24 09:02

Sorry but I can not share the WebLink table.

If you want to share the same weblink page for several websites, I suggest that you create a page in one website and that you redirect the other websites to this page.

==========

Re: Joomla Weblinks component sharing
Posted by chrisjclay - 2012/07/24 19:39

We're actually using a module called Jumplink to create a dropdown menu (see attached) and it retrieves the links from the Weblinks component. I was hoping we wouldn't have to recreate the links for each site, but perhaps there's no other way... You may want to consider developing a Weblinks paid upgrade add-on in future (assuming it's possible.)

http://www.jms2win.com/images/fbfiles/images/change_communities.png

Cheers,
Chris

==========

Re: Joomla Weblinks component sharing
Posted by edwin2win - 2012/07/25 13:16

We notice that you would like to have a "Multisites Weblink" extension.
We also notice that you would like to create a "Multisites Jumplink" extension

Please send us the "Jumplink" extension in the attachement of an email.
See "contact us" for the email address

==========