Posted by laldana - 2009/12/03 19:27

Edwin, I have got the JMS2WIN nevertheless I did not know that ZOO is not compatible with JMS.

We really need your help or advice. Have you thought of making a patch for ZOO in order to fix the installation limitation on the slave site?

Please help me.

Best Regards,

Luis

Dear Luis,

as mentioned in the product detail and the compatibilty tabs, YooThemes has a special installation procedure that is not compatible with JMS.

We will check again Zoo to see if it is now possible to describe it into the JMS Tools that would give an alternate method to install it.

If this is possible, we will release it into the next patch definition 1.2.20.

Hi Edwin,

Do you have an estimated date for the release of the new update?

Thanks and Regards,

Dear Luis,
As I have explained to you in the email you send us, we are in quality control of the next release and until the QC is not OK we will not release it.
We hope release it this week.
As we told you, the next release will contain compatibility with Joomla 1.6 alpha2 and I hiope you will understand that this require more test before release the new version.
We do not want impact Joomla 1.5 customers and don't want to create a speciific JMS product for Joomla 1.6 that customer would have to buy.
The current JMS is already partially compatible Joomla 1.6 alpha1 and the next one just be adapted to the new changes performed in Joomla 1.6 alpha2.
