Dear Edwin!

I install last version of NoixACL 2.0.6 Beta on J1.5.18 and create subgroup of Managers with set needed right. When I open master site backend by user from new group I can menus manage, when I try do it in subsite I can't do it (You dont have permission to access). I use share of users and hope to have same result on master and slave site.
Could you write any recomendation?

Best regards, Dmitry.

Hiow have you installed the Noix ACL into the slave site ?
Did you re-installed Noix ACL directly from the slave site back-end or did you used the JMS tools to install the Noix ACL ?

If you have used the JMS Tool, did you also installed the Noix module and plugins ?

Thanks for your replyy!

Problem has bee resolved by reinstall component in JMS Tool. But I have some access error problem when I trying click Apply button in Menu. Save button is working;)

Br, Dmitry.

Can you be more precised when you say that you have a problem when clik on appmy button.

We don't have apply button in the JMS tools menu.

Can you be more explicit.
Give a detailled scenario that we can reproduce with potentialy screenshot that show us exactly the problem.
Your question is very breif and not understandable.
Consider that we don't know NoxACL that perhaps will force you explain us how to reproduce that.
