The requested URL was not found on this server

Posted by FH45 - 2010/08/05 19:07

Hello Edwin,

We have been doing quite well on JMS for some time and enjoyed the benefit of using JMS on a web network which include two web portals and nine web sites.

Today we got a problem which we have spend all day on and still not found any solution. We saw the problem first time for nearly 19 hours ago when I install Chronoform ver. 3.1_RC5.5. The install took place through the Master and than propagated to the slave sites. Still working well but when we on a slave site wanted to create a form and click on "New" we get for the first time The requested URL was not found on this server. We try other slave sites and here it is the same. Than we try at the Master site and get the same error.

We submit a post at the Chronoform Forum and park the problem.

Later on we install Xmap ver 1.2.8 and the same happen again - the installation went well but when we want to configure we get again The requested URL was not found on this server.

Than we want to see if there is something wrong with the two above extensions and we install them on a web site which are a standalone and not a part of the above JMS network. However this web site is at the same web server. Here the two above extensions is working 100%.

So we allow our self to conclude that there is something wrong at our JMS network and hope that you will be able to help us out.

Best regards,
Finn

==========