We are unable to share the RSEvents Component. Earlier we were able to share between master and slave site. With new patch we are not able share between master and slave.

Then Can we update that old patch were RS Events were sharable?

If you want to rollback to older patch definition, this is only possible with the installation of an older Jms Multisites and with the patch definition.

We don't find any difference concerning the RSEvents definition between the 1.2.51 patch and the latest one.
So we don't know which is your problem.
Can you provide a detailled description of the problem.
Which error message do you have ?
Does the links between the RSEvents tables are correctly created ?
