Creating Sub Domain Websites

Posted by mark@pierceandco.co.uk - 2016/02/21 11:17

Hi

Here is my scenario - I have some posts but I want to be clear

I sell a website service for landlords and agent client to manage their maintenance requests and at the moment I am using Akeeba backup to setup the sites manually. For example, I have the site called www.mypropertywebsite.co.uk. I then manually create the sub domain and upload the akeeba backup to the sub domain and install it. example client1.mypropertywebsite.co.uk

So my question is this. Can I allow my new users to setup their account automatically with your extension? So they simply click a link and all the files are created on a sub domain with a new database so it is entirely independent from each other?

client1.mypropertywebsite.co.uk >>> Own website and database - No access to other accounts

client2.mypropertywebsite.co.uk >>> Own website and database - No access to other accounts

client3.mypropertywebsite.co.uk >>> Own website and database - No access to other accounts

Etc etc

I use Siteground as a hosting provider

Thanks

Mark

==========

Re:Creating Sub Domain Websites

Posted by mark@pierceandco.co.uk - 2016/02/22 12:53

---

friendly bump :)

==========

Re:Creating Sub Domain Websites

Posted by mark@pierceandco.co.uk - 2016/02/25 11:25

Disappointed to see I have not had any replies

If you are expecting me to purchase your extension and not get support it won't be happening -

I'm very disappointed that not even an acknowledgement

Mark

==========

Re: Creating Sub Domain Websites

Posted by edwin2win - 2016/02/25 15:42

Yes you can provide a service that allow creating websites automatically.
See for example the www.mywebsite2win.com that is something that do that.
OR you can also test such kind of behavior at demo.meeting2win.com that allow creating a trial website subdomain for 24h

You will need the JMS Full edition to do that.
If you want to sale the service, you will also need the "bridge for HikaShop" to process the payment.

==========

Re:Creating Sub Domain Websites

Posted by mark@pierceandco.co.uk - 2016/02/27 11:58

Thanks for the reply, and my apologies for the delay responding I've just found the email! :)

Regards

Mark

==========

Re:Creating Sub Domain Websites

Posted by edwin2win - 2016/02/27 13:52

No problem and for your information, when you purchase JMS including the support, you will receive our skype for a direct contact.
Sometimes, this can help in case of emergency like for example hacking or other troubles.

We reply in this forum when we have time.

==========

Re:Creating Sub Domain Websites

Posted by mark@pierceandco.co.uk - 2016/02/28 09:37

Sorry one last question

Can i use an Akeeba backup to create the site as I described above?

Thanks

Mark

==========

Re:Creating Sub Domain Websites

Posted by edwin2win - 2016/03/07 12:43

_____

I would say NO.
If you want to perform the backup of all the websites and have the symbolic links correctly saved, we have created a "Weekly backup shell script" that you can download at https://www.jms2win.com/en/component/docman/doc_details/41-weekly-backup-script-all-dbs

Personnaly, we never been able to configure Akeeba backup to do a correct backup when restored but we have some customers that succeeded to do it.
So we will not be able to advise you how to setup akeeba backup to perform a correct backup of all your websites.

==========