Jomres compatibility current status

Posted by Kaiser - 2016/12/22 12:06

Hello,
i searched for useful informations that could help me to understand if it is possible to build a Master site with single Jomres installation and than to use different Slave sites for booking and managing different Jomres "properties".
I found only 2-3 years old dicussions, without any concrete feedback about the real possibility to have a working structure.

I see that Jomres is listed as a compatible JMS extensions,
I ask to developers which are, actually, the results that can be obtained without problems and which issues/limitations can arise.

thanks

==========

Re: Jomres compatibility current status

Posted by edwin2win - 2017/01/16 10:28

Yes you can use JomRes and when it is combined with JMS, it is also possible to have additional sharing functionalities inside JomRes.

So you can create website with totally different properties OR create website that partially share some properties.

==========