Google Analytics with JMS

Posted by kanoon - 2016/08/18 14:30

Hi Edwin,

I'm about to setup Google Analytics for my multisite network.
Just wondering, if there's any suggestions/documentation to do properly for each site with (of course) one google analytics account.

Cheers,
Max

No there is no particular remark for that.
In general, you can use any extension to do that.
They generally save their parameters in the DB and therefore you can have a Google Analytic per website.

We also created in the past a "Multisites Google Analystics" extension.

If you have a look on our jms2win.com website, you will see that it contains a google analytics code.
jms2win.com is also a slave site.
