Hi and thanks for a great tool!!

After using freshslavedomain i logged in the new slavesite and installed my theme.
everything was working ok and the new theme was displayed on my doamin but when i tried to IMPORT CONTENT FROM TEMPLATE (MENUS AND PAGES ARE INCLUDED IN MY THEME) ι get a 404 error which tells me i dont have the rights to import contnet

did you had a similar situation whith anyone else
i searched the forum but didnt find anything similar

What would be a possible solution

Sorry for the delay but as you probably noticed, I was in the trip for the Joomla day toulouse.

You mentioned installed a "joomla template" into a slave site.
Some template companies have developed their own framework to bypass the joomla framework and my have issue when working with JMS. This is the case of Yoothemes templates and this is the reason why we publish a "patch for yoothemes" extension.

To better reply to your question, it would be helpfull to know the name of the template.

No prob, i've setup my sites and i will be adding the content after monday, so if we find a solution i ll just save more time

its is a custom build template via artisteer{ } actually i have the same problem with all my slave sites (when install the templates on the master the is no problem)

thanks for the help
