intro text --> master, full text --> Slave

Hello,
I have multisites and k2 installed and running perfectly.
I am working in project with the following scenario:
1 site master and 4 sites slaves.
All content are update from the slaves sites, the master site only show some intro text of the slaves content.
I am facing a small problem, I would like that when someone access the intro content on master site, it open the full article in the slave site.
At the moment the full content is being showing on master site.

Thanks

Doing what you request require that you modify the extension that display the the articles.
Here probably K2 and that you create a special layout that give you this possibility.

If you want that we help you modifying K2 to do that, this is possible with our billable support that you can order at
